

Provide general support to the network

Support our annual Sista Summit

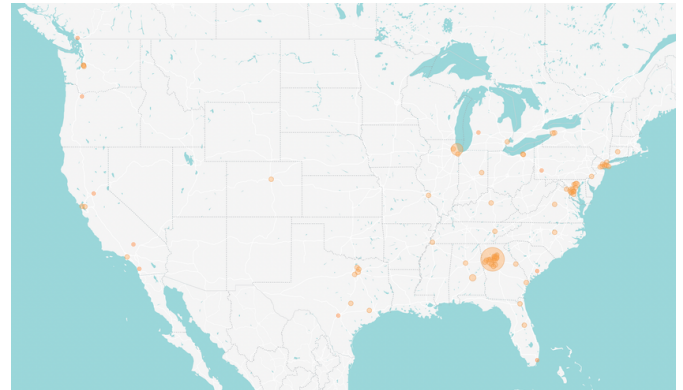

The Sista Nonprofit Network (SNN) is a growing online community for Black women in the nonprofit and philanthropic sectors. The network, created by Black women in nonprofit and philanthropy, is a professional safe space for Black women in these sectors for relationship building and professional development. SNN members are Black women in a diversity of roles, at various career stages early career to senior level, at nonprofit and philanthropic organizations. The network has over 250 members that live and work in over 66 different cities in the United States and internationally.

Quotes from past SNN event attendees:

"I am starved for conversations with other Black women leaders. This was just what I needed."

"Black women in nonprofit need support and who better to support us than Black women in nonprofit!"

"I appreciate a space where I can be my authentic self without apology and to feel supported while learning and sharing with one another."

Since our inception in 2021:

- Over 200 Black women have attended our virtual events
 - 3 Sista Summits (annual virtual conference)
 - 3 professional development workshops (led by SNN members)
 - 4 social events- space to build meaningful connections
 - 5 Sista Roundtables-space to discuss workplace environments and issues
- Over 50 Black women nonprofit and philanthropic leaders have served as speakers for network events
- Over 211 members have joined our private LinkedIn Group

Over 270 Black women have subscribed to our email list

Founder:

Tokiwa T. Smith - Tokiwa T. Smith Consulting